51 YEARS OLD — NILES, CALIFORNIA FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1939 — No. 30

AROUND the TOWNSHIP

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Martin of Niles returned home this past week after an extensive tour of the East and Canada. The highlight of the trip, according to Mrs. Martin, was their visit to the quintuplets at Callender. At least a thousand visitors a day pass behind the glass wall through which they can see the children playing but cannot be seen themselves. Mrs. Martin talked with Mrs. Dionne and took a snapshot of her at the front gate of her house which is across the street from the quarters occupied by her five famous children.

The Martins traveled 12,000 miles in 31 days, visiting Denver, Chicago, Cincinatti, West Virginia, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, New York, Montreal, Thousand Islands, Jasper National Park, Vancouver and Victoria.

Accidental Bullet Wounds Youth At Camp In Canyon

NILES — Following frequent complaints that boys had been shooting indiscriminately around camps in Niles Canyon, a 16 year old Alameda boy was brought to the Grau Emergency Hospital last Friday suffering a gun shot wound in the upper left arm. The bullet splintered into several pieces and the boy had to be taken to the Hayward hospital to have the pieces removed.

The injured youth was Joseph John James Golobick of 460 B, Taylor ave., Alameda. He had been camping with Paul Worthy, 14, of 315 Central ave., Alameda. The gun which inflicted the wound was said to have been held by Arthur Wilson, 13, of 2836 Seminary ave., Oakland. According to Deputy Sheriff Henry Vervais who investigated, the shooting was accidental.

The proprietor of the camp where the shooting occurred says numerous complaints have been made because of wild bullets flying around camp grounds.

Validated Tags Or Else Is Warning Of County Game Warden

CENTERVILLE — A warning to all deer hunters was issued by County Game Warden Fred Rogers this week prior to opening of the hunting season next Tuesday.

All deer hung in butcher shops must have the validated tags or the meat will be confiscated and the owners taken into court, Rogers said. Any Justice of the Peace, notary public, traffic officer or other public officer can validate the tag, so there is no excuse for not having the tags properly noted, according to Rogers.

Warning is also given regarding careless use of cigarettes and matches by hunters.

The season opens a half hour before sunrise next Tuesday morning and closes a half hour after sundown, Sept. 14.

DEFECTIVE SPEECH CLASSES WILL BE ORGANIZED IN FALL

CENTERVILLE —Edgar Muller, superintendent of Alameda County Public Schools was in Centerville this past week. He said plans are being completed to start the defective speech classes in local schools this fall.

Schools have been divided into the following districts: Washington Union High School, Decoto, Niles and Newark or Irvington, District No. 1; Hayward Union High School, San Lorenzo and Castro Valley, No. 2; elementary schools of Hayward, No. 3.

Each of the schools must maintain an average daily attendance of 10. Funds advanced by the district will be repaid by the State Department of Education under its rehabilitation program.

Growers Union Lists Increased Prices On Dried Apricot Yield

CENTERVILLE — Increase in prices for dried apricots was decided upon at a meeting of the Apricot Growers Union at San Jose Monday night, according to Manuel Bernardo, president of the Alameda County local. Growers are asked to hold out for the following increases:

Standard grade raised from 10 cents to 11 cents; choice from 11 to 12 cents; extra choice from 12½ to 14½; fancy, from 14 to 16; extra fancy from 15 to 17; extra fancy Moorparks from 16 to 18 cents.

Ed Grant of Hollister, president of the California Apricot Growers Union, reported that growers were holding out for prices agreed upon in a compromise between demands of growers and offers of canners several weeks ago.

Attending the meeting from the township were Bernardo; Tony Rezendes, vice president and James Nunes, secretary.

Special Election On School Bond Election In Alviso District

CENTERVILLE — Residents of the Alviso Grammar School District will vote on the issuance of $25,000 in bonds to construct a new three room school at a special election set tentatively for Aug. 25.

Preliminary plans have been drawn by Miller and Warneke, Oakland architects and have been approved by the board of trustees, according to Mrs. Elsie Madruga, principal. The plans have been forwarded to the State Department of Architecture at Sacramento.

The new building will consist of three class rooms, library, nurse's room and office and will be annexed to the auditorium built several years ago. The present building has been condemned because of earthquake hazard and damage by termites.

Ceramic Conference Members Will Visit At Kraftile Plant

NILES — Among the numerous groups being brought to Washington Township and Southern Alameda County from the Golden Gate Exposition will be the several hundred delegates to the summer conference of the American Ceramic Society. Aug. 6-12.

A visit will be made to the Kraftile plant at Niles, to the Castlewood Country Club and the Alameda County Fair at Pleasanton on Friday, Aug. 11. C. W. Kraft of Niles is chairman of the publicity committee and vice president of the Northern California Section. George Sladek is chairman of the plant visits committee.

About 700 delegates from all parts of the United States will attend the conference to have its headquarters at the Palace Hotel at San Francisco. Sight seeing trips around the Bay region and special entertainment for the ladies are being planned.

The morning sessions will be devoted to technical discussions. After visiting the Kraftile plant here, the party will go to Castlewood for luncheon, golf, tennis, swimming, hiking, horseback riding and dancing. They will attend the horse races at the Alameda County Fair on Friday afternoon and will return to Castlewood for dinner and go back to the horse show at Pleasanton in the evening.

Officers of the Northern California section are H. S. Adcock of Richmond, chairman; C. W. Kraft of Niles, vice chairman; George Page of Pittsburg, secretary and G. R. Smith of Alameda, treasurer. A. I. Andrews, professor of Ceramic Engineering, University of Ill., is president of the American Ceramic Society and J. L. Carruthers, professor of Ceramic Engineering, Ohio State University, vice president.

Two honorary members of the Fellows of the American Ceramic Society recently elected are Axel Samuel Wilhelm Odelberg, former president of the Gustafsberg China Works of Sweden and Heinrich Ries, professor of geology, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

The Kraftile exhibit at the exposition, one of the points to be visited by the delegates, is a reproduction in terra cotta of an ancient Egyptian fireze which is the earliest representation of a dairy scene known to man in any form whatsoever. This reproduction originally was made for placement in the lobby of a new building of a large dairy concern, and in view of the interest displayed in the artistic qualities of this work, a call was received for permission to display it in the Alameda-Contra Costa Counties Building.

A bronze plaque below the original reproduction gives the following description:

"About 5000 years ago the Babylonians of Ur worshipped the milk goddess Nin-hur-sag. When her shrine at al Ubaid was excavated by the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania and the British Museum, on the outer wall was discovered the panel here reproduced. It depicts two calves emerging from a reed pen, a man milking from behind the cow as was the custom at that time, two men straining milk and pouring it into a spouted jar, anothtr making butter by rolling a jar between his knees, and a fifth packing it away. These men are priests performing ceremonies in honor of the milk goddess; the scene is the earliest known representation of dairying."

1929 WAS A BIG YEAR

. . . . for Niles and some of the highlights of August 10 years ago included ground breaking for the beautiful American Legion's Veterans' Memorial Building, preliminary work to establish a street lighting system and the selection of a night watchman for the city. Yes, 1929 was a big year for Niles. . . .

and for Oakland—

it was then that a Finer Store for Oakland became a reality. With the completion of the H. C. Capwell store building at 20th and Broadway, residents of neighboring communities found a vast shopping center, easy of access, efficient in performance of mail and telephone orders, stocked with the needs of modern living. For ten years, this finer H. C. Capwell store has been gaining new friends by the thousands. Our 10th BIG SALE is a great big "Thank You." Be here Wednesday.
